

Laser Surgery Position Statement

The use of any type of lasers, intense pulsed light, radio frequency and medical microwave devices, in the treatment of human beings, is the practice of medicine and only licensed medical practitioners should be allowed to utilize these therapies. Non-physician personnel with appropriately documented training may perform these procedures under the direct supervision of a physician who is physically present and immediately available.

Adopted: June 20, 2002